Desegregate Now, Court Tells Schools

Ruling Raises Some Problems For Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court's order of classroom desegregation "at once" raises an immediate problem for President Nixon: What to do about administration guidelines allowing some Deep South school districts until 1970 to eliminate dual systems?

The President can take one of two roads, as top government civil rights officials view the situation.

"He can either accept the decision as law and change the guidelines or keep playing games by appealing additional cases in hope the court will modify its decision," said one official.

In either case, officials agree, the high court has appeared to invalidate any government-approved plan that delays desegregation of a school district until next fall.

The Office for Civil Rights in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has already accepted 100 such plans. And it is now negotiating with 154 additional Deep South school districts for desegregation plans that would be effective next fall.

"It looks like all those 1970 plans are out now," said one government official. "It's a whole new ball game, apparently, with all plans having to be immediate ones."

The government has two means of forcing desegregation on recalcitrant southern districts.

One is through court orders based on previous Supreme Court decision outlawing dual systems. The other is by cutting off federal aid to districts which do not provide acceptable plans for complying with the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The Nixon administration's July 3 guidelines gave southern districts with "bone side" education problems, a chance to delay desegregation until next fall while compliance plans were negotiated.

Buckley Lashes Out At Dissenters

HILLSDALE (AP) — William Buckley, national spokesman for conservative causes, warned Hillsdale College students Wednesday that dissenters in America are being dealt with too gently.

The former candidate for mayor of New York said a minority is once again trying to impose its will on a majority "claiming some higher, yet unproven law."

An audience of about 500 persons heard Buckley's address at a guest speaker program at Hillsdale College.

Continued Operation Out Under New Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the 14 years since the Supreme Court ordered public schools desegregated "with all deliberate speed," many had asked, "until when?"

The court has answered: "Now." "Continued operation of segregated schools under a standard of allowing 'all deliberate speed' for desegregation is no longer constitutionally permissible," the court said Wednesday.

"Under explicit holdings of this court the obligation of every school district is to terminate dual school systems at once and to operate now and hereafter only unitary schools."

The court ruled unanimously May 17, 1954 that racial segregation in public schools was unconstitutional.

Realizing the problems that could arise from overturning a system that had been required by law in 17 states and sanctioned by law in four others, the court pondered for a year before giving any guidelines for implementation.

May 31, 1965, the court said federal courts should require "a prompt and reasonable start toward full compliance" and an end to segregation in public schools "with all deliberate speed."

Yielding Ruled Out
Lower courts were to be allowed to "take into account the public interest" in eliminating obstacles to desegregation. "But it should go without saying that the vitality of these constitutional principles cannot be allowed to yield simply because of disagreement with them."

The courts were to require school officials to "make a prompt and reasonable start toward full compliance." But "once such a start has been made, the courts may find that additional time is necessary to carry out the ruling in an effective manner."

No deadline was set. In 1958 the Supreme Court said the fear of violence attending desegregation in Little Rock, Ark., was no reason to delay.

Rights Held Up
"The constitutional rights of respondents are not to be sacrificed or yielded to the violence and disorder which have followed upon the actions of the governor and legislature," the court ruled.

Then the court ruled out "evasive schemes" to avoid or delay desegregation and in 1960 backed lower courts which had decided certain school districts had had time enough.

But at the same time it denied an NAACP plea to order schools in New Orleans to desegregate at the start of the school year instead of two months later, the opposite of its position Wednesday.

Dixie School Aides Losing Legal Crutch

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has stripped southern school officials of their favorite legal crutch and ordered an end to delay in the desegregation of public schools.

The unanimous decision, given Wednesday night in a Mississippi case, said the "all deliberate speed" doctrine no longer may serve as a cover for the continued operation of segregated schools.

"The obligation of every school district is to terminate dual school systems at once and to operate now and hereafter only unitary schools," declared the decision, first under Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

The ruling was a stunning setback to the Nixon administration, which had maintained education officials needed more time to "validate" desegregation plans for schools in Mississippi.

Its import extends far beyond the state, reaching wherever racially separate schools remain as a vestige of segregation laws the court began declaring unconstitutional in 1954.

Beyond that, the decision could serve as a platform for legal attacks in the North. Though most northern school segregation is a result of neighborhood housing patterns, the ruling's effect in these situations was not immediately clear.

The court acted with urgent dispatch. It had conducted its hearing only last Thursday and issued its ruling during a recess, the first such move in nearly five years.

The opinion was unsigned, though some of the phrases bore the unmistakable imprint of Justice Hugo L. Black, who in an interim ruling last month recommended a final uprooting of the "all deliberate speed" doctrine.

Suit Possible In Smog Hassle

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The State Attorney General's Office reviewed its plans Wednesday to sue automobile manufacturers for smog damage in light of the out-of-court settlement of the federal government's similar suit.

State officials called a news conference for today apparently to give a progress report on their preparations for filing of a suit.

Meanwhile, Los Angeles County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn angrily scored U.S. Judge Jesse W. Curtis Jr.'s approval Tuesday of the consent decree settling the federal suit.

"A mockery," he said. County supervisors persuaded other local and state jurisdictions to try to intervene in the suit and bring it to trial. Their petitions were rejected by Judge Curtis.

"I publicly criticize Judge Jesse Curtis," Hahn declared. "The only way a federal judge can be pressured is in the possibility of their promotion. There is a lifetime appointment. The attorney general's office recommends judges. Judge Curtis leaned heavily toward listening to the attorney general's office."

State lawyers have been contemplating criminal as well as civil action against the automakers on behalf of the state of California and its cities and counties. The attorney general's office reported that more than 150 city attorneys and county counsels have given State Atty. Gen. Thomas Lynch permission to file suits on their behalf.

Hahn said he left the courtroom Tuesday after the morning session. "I had the feeling then the case already had been decided," he said.

"Eighteen months of testimony and preparation, then in five hours time, down the drain went all that work." In approving the consent decree, Judge Curtis said it was in the public interest and "gives the government all the relief it could have gained if it had tried the case and won."

Property Tax Bill Pushed

LANSING (AP)—House Democrats are polishing a multi-million dollar property tax exemption bill which they hope to use as a lever in a showdown battle with Senate Republicans over education reform.

Increase Sought
The bill proposes a $1,000 increase in the $2,500 property tax exemption for persons over 65 who earn no more than $6,000 a year. It is similar to a bill that cleared the House earlier but failed to win support in the Senate.

Toxic Fumes Of Deodorant Fatal To Youth

BEVERLY HILLS (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. William R. Delahanty of Beverly Hills Wednesday buried their 16-year-old son, a boy they had sent away to an Illinois military school in an effort to guard him from unsavory influences they thought he might encounter in a local high school.

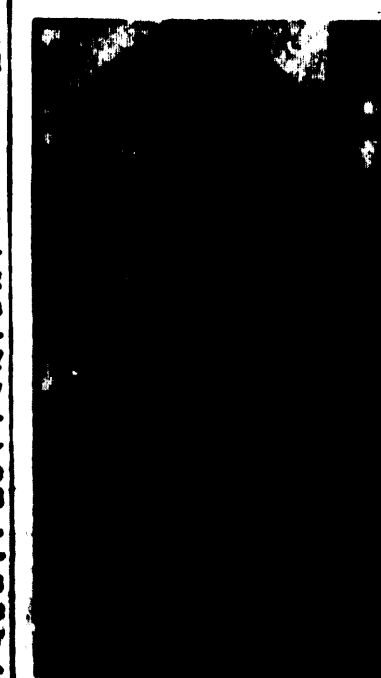

The youth was found dead Saturday in his barracks at Western Military Academy at Alton, Ill. He apparently died from inhaling toxic fumes from an aerosol deodorant, his parents said.

Alton police said a five-ounce can of spray deodorant was found near the boy after he collapsed in the barracks. Outside the window officials found a wash cloth which had been soaked in the deodorant which, police said, contained some ingredients which could be fatal if inhaled.

His parents said they didn't think the boy had experimented with drugs and was not depressed to their knowledge.

"Frankly I think it was just for kicks," said the father. "There's no reason to believe it was anything other than just trying something stronger than a cigarette."

"It was a lark," said Mrs. Delahanty. "I don't understand what's going on, what kids today want," she said. "We thought sending him away might be a little better," his father said. "You hear so much about what goes on at our local public high schools."

WILLIAM R. DELAHANTY, one of the leading critics of the state government, was partially responsible for sending his son away to a military school in Illinois. His son, William R. Delahanty Jr., was found dead Saturday in his barracks at Western Military Academy at Alton, Ill. (AP Wirephoto)

Disruption In Schools Fails, SDS Foe Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Detroit police sergeant accused Students for a Democratic Society Wednesday of trying to disrupt the Motor City's public schools. But, he said, they've struck out.

Detective Sgt. Allen R. Crouter said SDS has repeatedly tried to disrupt school services by sending its members into schools during classes to hand out inflammatory leaflets and to deface school property with obscene and revolutionary slogans.

Despite its work, Crouter told the House Internal Security Committee, SDS has met with little success.

But, he said, the members are persistent and have given no indication they will stop.

Asked if they pose a danger to the schools, Crouter replied, "Yes, definitely."

Crouter, a member of the Detroit police Special Investigation Bureau's demonstration detail, told of at least 10 incidents involving SDS members at various high schools and two area colleges since Sept. 10.

Several schools were defaced with slogans, he said, and SDS members handing out leaflets at one school Sept. 16 assaulted two teachers when ordered to leave.

Crouter said the several arrests that have been made have failed to put a stop to SDS activities.

The most serious incident occurred Sept. 27, he said, during a march on Wayne State University's War Research Center.

Crouter said several policemen were beaten by the marchers when they tried to arrest their leader. Eleven persons were arrested in the melee.

"Sounds like they (SDS) meant business," said Committee Chairman Richard D. Ichord, D-Mo.

"They were there looking for business," Crouter replied. The committee is investigating SDS activities in several midwestern cities.

Policeman's Slayer Gives Up To Priest

DETROIT (AP)—The object of an intensive police search since Saturday turned himself in today to a Roman Catholic priest. He was still wearing the handcuffs he wore when he escaped.

Ernest J. Walker, 25, Detroit, was driven to police headquarters by the Rev. Thomas J. Van Antwerp who said Walker knocked on the door of the rectory at about 1 a.m.

Walker was sought in connection with the fatal shooting late Saturday of Patrolman Paul E. Began and the wounding of his partner, Patrolman William E. Miko. The policemen stopped a car because of a minor traffic infraction. Walker was identified as the driver.

Walker attempted to escape, police said, and was handcuffed before being placed in the rear seat of the cruiser with a companion, Olive Ann Fulgham, 25, Detroit. Miss Fulgham, like Walker, has been charged with first-degree murder and is held without bond.

After the two were placed in the back seat of the patrol car, Patrolman Miko started to drive to the police station. He heard shots and rolled out of the car, which crashed. The two passengers escaped but Miss Fulgham was subsequently captured.

Patrolman Began apparently was shot in the head and was mortally wounded in the car. He was buried Wednesday.

Father Van Antwerp, 44, pastor of St. Ignace Catholic Church in Detroit, said, "I often receive callers at night, but I was surprised when he awakened me. 'He told me he was Ernest Walker and I suppose it should have meant something to me, but it didn't.'"

Yarick, Cross To Sing Nov. 3

A handsome young husband and wife team, Dotie Yarick and Richard Cross, will present the third Community Concert here next Monday night, Nov. 3, at William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium.

Individually recognized as outstanding artists, the soprano and bass-baritone have had roles of importance with several great opera companies as well as with major orchestras and in recital.

Miss Yarick has appeared with the New York City, Santa Fe and San Francisco opera companies and made her Australian debut as a member of the Joan Sutherland Opera Company in the fall of 1968. She has sung many roles in operas throughout Australia. "Her voice is powerful throughout its range and is particularly impressive in its ability to sing a wide range of notes but not over-powered brightness in the upper range. Her dynamic shading was usually judicious," reports the New York Herald Tribune.

Richard Cross' most recent activity consisted of a concert filled with highlights in recent seasons. Since 1969 he has been a leading member of the Frankfurt Opera in Germany where he played "Prince Igor." Last season he did "Mephistopheles" in "Faust" for the Vancouver Opera Company. In June he returned to Ottawa to appear with the Montreal Symphony in a concert version of "Die Walkure."

Teamed with the great Joan Sutherland in Rossini's "Semiramide" with the American Opera Society at New York's Carnegie Hall, Cross' stature as first-rate artist was immediately established. He has filled a tremendous schedule of commitments in Mexico, Canada, Europe and the United States and has recorded for RCA, Westminster and Columbia.

Miss Yarick and Mr. Cross will sing here under the auspices of the Delta County Community Concert Association. No single admissions will be sold at the door but subscribers are reminded their tickets are transferrable. Curtain time is 8:15 p. m.

Young People's Drive For D.U.S. Is Sunday

Delta County youth is going to take hold of the Delta United Services drive Sunday afternoon.

Delta United Services is the county's federated organization to finance 11 health, welfare and youth organizations that serve Delta County.

Never before, says Campaign President Tom Strabel, have the young people of the county been so actively identified with the DUS campaign and never before has it had so much work or enthusiasm and such a bright prospect of raising enough money to fund all 11 agencies.

They include the Red Cross Blood Bank, Bay Cliff Health Camp, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, Michigan Child Guidance Center, John F. Kennedy School for Retarded Children, Salvation Army, Delta Family Services, United Services Organization and Community Mental Health Center.

Seniors and members of service organizations of Escanaba Area High School, Holy Name High School and Gladstone High School will meet at the Escanaba Area High School and Gladstone High School at 1:30 p. m. Sunday to get campaign solicitation forms.

Thus equipped, they will start a two hour blitz campaign for contributions in all the communities of Delta County. They plan to finish by 3:30 p. m.

Their campaign will give DUS a new dimension of involvement in Delta County, with its young people staging the closing, major phase of the campaign in the solicitation of homes.

Strabel said that, on paper, the campaign now underway with its student climax set for Sunday is the best organized in the history of the county's charitable efforts. Strabel suggested the involvement of the community's young people in the annual campaign and William Wood, Robert Micevsky and Brother Mark, the principals of Gladstone, Escanaba Area and Holy Name high schools, endorsed it enthusiastically and presented it to the student bodies, which adopted it immediately and actively.

Proposals Discussed Strabel told the student groups in a series of meetings the history of Delta County's efforts to finance its charitable activities with volunteer giving. The effort has lacked enough volunteer workers to make a thorough canvass of all households in the county.

Strabel said that if the students accepted the responsibility for the residential campaign they would also have the responsibility of organizing it and conducting it. Student meetings discussed the proposal and accepted the challenge.

Students reacted like this: "We'd like to see Delta County continue as a good place to live."

"We want to repay the community for what it has given us."

"We owe our community this bit of help."

4-H Takes Up Snowmobiling

Snowmobiling is the newest 4-H project in Michigan. Announcement of the project was made today by Arden Peterson, state 4-H youth program leader, at state extension 4-H youth agents attending the 1969 Extension Annual Conference at Michigan State University.

"The snowmobile 4-H project combines recreation with learning about safety and small engines," according to Peterson.

"With about 75,000 licensed snowmobiles in Michigan, young people are learning that snowmobiles offer new adventures for wintertime sports.

"This 4-H project follows other new project areas such as the 4-H weather project and the 4-H computer project as the Michigan 4-H Youth Program aims projects and activities at all youth, both urban and rural."

The snowmobiling project is expected to develop skills in handling and maintaining a snowmobile, of the laws governing snowmobiling, interest and enthusiasm for the out-of-doors in winter, and understanding of interrelationships of people working together, says Peterson.

Through this 4-H project, youth will become familiar with the snowmobiles, perform simple maintenance and repairs, learn safe operating procedures, practice the Code of Ethics for Snowmobilers, learn proper dress for snowmobiling, plan and lay out snowmobile trails, and learn to load and transport the snowmobile safely.

The snowmobile 4-H project makes an excellent family project, adds Peterson.

The new project was developed by Peterson, extension agricultural engineers at MSU and three extension 4-H youth agents.

FALSE ALARMS

LONDON (AP)—False alarms caused partly by equipment failure are threatening to collapse Britain's burglar alarm system, G. K. Wright, a security consultant, says. He says police, faced with as many as 4,000 false calls a week, are finding it more and more difficult to respond promptly.

Forest Meeting Scheduled Here

A series of meetings with wood producers of the Upper Peninsula will be initiated in November by the Upper Great Lakes Timber, Inc., a funded program of Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission, designed to upgrade the timber industry of the area.

Sessions will be held Nov. 24 in Newberry and Nov. 25 in Escanaba. Other meetings will be held in the western end of the Peninsula on dates to be announced.

Producers will be given an introduction to Timber, Inc., its aims and its two-year schedule in a program conducted by

Release More Pine Marten

In a pine marten release project that was curtailed last spring because of lack of money, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources expects to complete the acquisition and release of about 50 to 60 more Canadian animals this fall.

This year's project is a joint one and set up between the U. S. Forest Service and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Sixteen pine martens were picked up at Port Arthur, Ontario on Tuesday, Oct. 28, and delivered to the Marquette County Airport. The animals will be released where 45 were released on the Buckeye Grade about 13 miles north of Rapid River in Delta County this past April.

Five males and three female pine martens were also released in the Porcupine Mountain State Park interior during the winter of 1965-66 and 21 more were obtained from Canada during the winter of 1967 and released in the same area. There have been very few reports of tracks seen or actual sightings of the 1965-66-67 releases.

The marten is a member of the weasel family and is known to feed on red squirrels and occasionally birds and fruits. It sleeps during most of the day and hunts during the night.

Peter Grieco, general manager, Newberry, and William Houtman, field manager, Marquette.

The meetings will consist of a showing of slides from recent field trips demonstrating equipment and methods employed in logging areas in other parts of the country; a discussion of the new safety standards for wood workers and the safety code for forestry developed by Timber, Inc., with assistance from the bureau of safety, Department of Commerce, which will also assist in the program presentation. The new safety standards go into effect Nov. 15.

U.P. Enrollment Gains Slightly

Public school enrollment in the Upper Peninsula is up slightly for the 1969-70 school year over the 1968-69 school year, a preliminary report from the Michigan Dept. of Education has indicated.

The report showed that the U. P. had 73,992 memberships as opposed to 73,101 during past school year. This amounted to an increase of 891 students in the 15 counties of the U. P.

The largest increase in students was noted in Marquette County where enrollment was up 467, Dickinson County showed an increase of 231 followed by Menominee County with 222 more students.

The largest decrease was noted in Chippewa County where total enrollment was down 334 students. Iron County was second with a decrease of 320 students.

Other increases were noted in Alger County with 11, Baraga County with 43, Delta County with 162, Houghton County with 80, Luce County with 45 and Ontonagon County with 120.

Other decreases were Gogebic County with 49, Keweenaw with 9, Mackinac County with 22, and Schoolcraft County with 56.

The largest percentage increase was in Dickinson County with 4.18 per cent followed by Menominee County with 4 per cent; Ontonagon County with 3.92, Marquette County 3.11, Luce County 2.59, Baraga County 2.12, Delta County 1.76, Houghton County 2.20 and Alger County with 47.

Spending By Design

One of those sticky little situations almost developed the other day when the early morning news report quoted a federal official as saying K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base would lose the 62nd Interceptor Squadron as part of the major defense cutback announced by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird.

And it is in these times of "crisis" that the true colors begin to show.

The 62nd Interceptor Squadron isn't the major unit at K. I. Sawyer. There are more personnel involved in operations and support of the 410th Bomb Wing of the Strategic Air Command. But the shift of an entire interceptor squadron would have had some impact on the base and surrounding area and that was the immediate concern.

The report of the change apparently was false as Congressman Philip Ruppe when contacted by newspaper reporters said that K. I. Sawyer would not be affected by the defense cutback.

It's interesting, however, to assess the local reaction to the first report.

In the offices of the Escanaba Daily Press and the Marquette Mining Journal, the two daily newspapers closest to K. I. Sawyer, the first questions thrown out had to do with the number of men affected, when the change would take place, etc.

But in the back of everyone's mind was the thought of the economic impact on the area. If the interceptor unit was transferred to another area, certainly some civilian jobs on the base would be lost. There also would be a reduction in the governmental payroll being expended in the stores and business places of the area.

Which brings us to the point.

Generally speaking, reductions in military spending are welcomed. There is growing concern in the nation over the so-called military-industrial complex and the power of the Pentagon. But, when it comes to cutbacks at home, the local residents almost universally rise up in protest. Save money, they say, but do it in someone else's backyard. We need the green stuff — and that isn't khaki they're referring to — that the big federal military installations bring to the community.

At Sault Ste. Marie, for example, where Kincheloe Air Force Base is scheduled to close, little thought was given to the cutback in defense spending when the announcement was made. Instead, Chippewa County rose up united in an effort to keep the base operating.

It isn't only air bases or military operations to which this thinking applies. People are quick to criticize federal programs which spend millions of dollars to control thimbleweed or research thimbleweed, but let a local program get an opportunity at some of that cash and the hands are wide open.

Some of the daffy programs that have been funded by the federal government are the product of local money grabbing. When the government says, "Michigan you have $50 million to spend in this area" the reaction almost universally is "All right, we'll spend it whether we need it or not. If we don't spend it, someone else will."

This is the fallacy in federal programs for local government. Spending is by formula, not design. Programs need to be created and are not created out of need. Money is spent simply because it is available.

Some of the programs which have been created, of course, are beneficial, providing things for communities and schools and people that otherwise would not have been available. Certainly someone must see some good in all of them.

But until the nation learns to accept the fact that a reduction in spending by government isn't always for the "other guy" there can be no real progress in tightening Uncle Sam's belt. It's something that all of us need to work a little harder at.

Unemployment in Gogebic County is at its lowest point in 11 years, according to Sec. J. Violetta, manager of the Ironwood office of the Michigan Employment Security Commission. He said the county's jobless ratio is 4.2 per cent, only two-tenths of one per cent higher than the national average. This is the lowest it has been since iron ore mines in that area began phasing out in 1958. The commission paid out $1,727,610 in unemployment benefits in 1958, the figure reaching a high of $1,762,513 in 1961. The latter year also was the peak in unemployment with 20.96 per cent of the labor force without jobs. Both skilled and semi-skilled jobs are available in the area, Violetta said, adding that most of those who are listed as unemployed are not fitted to the particular jobs now open. Another factor which shows the Gogebic area is picking up economically is the lack of housing facilities. Violetta said there is virtually no housing available in Bessemer, Wakefield and Marquette, while Ironwood has very few houses which are available for sale or rent. He emphasized that this is exactly the opposite of the situation only five years ago, when property values were down and many homes were for sale.

A Dickinson County District Court jury of five men and a woman was unable to agree on a verdict after a trial in an assault and battery case. Defendant in the case was 85-year-old Antonette Giacconi, who was charged by Iron Mountain Police Officer John Spigarelli with striking him with a broom. Spigarelli was called to the defendant's home when a dispute arose while workmen were installing a gas line. Prosecuting Attorney Francis Brouillette was not expected to ask for another trial.

State Rep. Russell Hellman (D-Dollar Bay) presented a centennial farm award to Reuben Rheault at the 86th annual Houghton County potato, grain, seed and vegetable show in Lake Linden last week. The farm started by a Copper Country pioneer, Axel Rheault, is being recognized for continuous operation by the Rheault family since 1864.

Fulbright Takes Time On Nixon Appointees

BY JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The foreign policy of the United States is supposed to be run by the President, with the advice of the Senate. But when the head of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee chooses to stay mum and immobile when the White House needs some sort of statement of intention about our ambassadorial representation abroad, the word "advice" hardly covers it.

The motives of Sen. J. William Fulbright, the Foreign Relations Committee chairman, are usually transparent. Everyone knows where he stands on Vietnam. But why should he have dawdled so in scheduling hearings on a couple of President Nixon's ambassadorial choices?

It was on Aug. 5 that Nixon named Professor Robert Strausz-Hupe, who has been director of the Foreign Policy Research Institute at the University of Pennsylvania, as his choice for ambassador to Morocco.

Strausz-Hupe has not seen eye-to-eye with Fulbright on the subject of Soviet intentions and capabilities; indeed, he has been one of those who has predicted "protracted conflict" with the Communists. But Morocco hardly comes within the field of Cold War fire.

If Fulbright could accept without reservations the controversial Bill Buckley when Nixon chose the doughty conservative and anti-Communist editor of National Review to serve as a White House adviser on communications, it would be equivalent to straining at a gnat to block the assignment of Professor Strausz-Hupe to a post that demands little more than ordinary diplomatic affability. This is said without prejudice to Strausz-Hupe, who would do a good job for his country in almost any capacity.

There may be more to the Fulbright dawdle than simple desire to be grudging about a professor who has been skeptical of the quality of Soviet loving-kindness. Nixon's choice to fill the empty U. S. ambassadorial post to Greece happens to be a career diplomat named Harry Taft, who is currently our Ambassador to Morocco. As long as there is no motion on the subject of Strausz-Hupe, Taft will remain immobilized in Morocco, and nobody will go to Athens.

This is positively dangerous, for the Athens Embassy is far more important to U. S. foreign policy than Morocco. Our more sober students of Greek affairs think the time has come for a constructive solution of the problem posed by international worry over the continuation of the Athens military dictatorship.

In Paris the former Prime Minister of Greece, Constantine Karamanlis, has hinted that the military government of George Papadopoulos is ready to make a move looking toward restoration of parliamentary rule. Presumably the present government in Athens could look forward to winning a five-year mandate under constitutional guarantees if it were to return to democracy. This should satisfy everybody but the Communists. It could even please Bill Fulbright.

The danger is that if the Senate Foreign Relations Committee becomes embroiled over the acceptance of Strausz-Hupe as Ambassador to Morocco the tensions might spill over into the questioning of Taft's fitness for the Athens post.

It is no secret that our State Department and our Department of Defense have had different opinions about Greek policy. If Taft is asked to make possibly embarrassing statements in reply to questions about U. S.-Greek affairs, or about the Communists in the Mediterranean and the Middle East, it could out the ground from under him when, as seems likely, he does go to Athens. He is needed in Greece as a reconciler, not as a figure of dispute.

Highland Park Police Seeking Detroit Posts

Highland Park (AP)—The president of the Highland Park Police Officers Association says 25 to 30 policemen in the Detroit suburb plan to apply for jobs today with the Detroit Police Department.

Arman Hecopigan reported that his men are frustrated with the lack of progress in contract negotiations with Highland Park officials. A major issue in the bargaining is a union demand that pay for Highland Park officers be equal to pay in Detroit. Highland Park has about 80 policemen.

An ordinance requiring Detroit policemen to live within the city limits recently was struck down in Wayne County Circuit Court. However, the ruling is being appealed and departmental rules still require that an officer who lives outside the city must get permission of the commissioner.

Hecopigan said he is prepared to continue negotiations with Highland Park on a new contract and says he will propose factfinding.

Mrs. Hulda Hendrickson, who will be 95 years old on Oct. 31, was honored during a family reunion last weekend at the home of Mrs. Hendrickson's daughter, Mrs. Cornelia Arrowood, Rte. 1.

About 80 relatives and friends attended the reunion which has been an annual event for over twenty years. Relatives were present from Phoenix, Ariz.; Kansas City, Mo.; Slater, Iowa; points in Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota, plus several Upper Peninsula cities.

groups will be calling on Manistique residents. The pastors are asking that students from the fifth grade and up meet at the Church of the Redeemer, Presbyterian, between 6 and 8:30 tonight, to receive their specific assignments.

Adults and older students with cars will be asked to help transport the callers to their assigned streets. All calling will end by 8 p.m. and all donations will be given to the Scoutmaster who will be at the Presbyterian Church. Refreshments will be served to the calling teams as they return.

Troop 402 was represented by Douglas Allen, Mark Doane, Raymond Dore, Naibert Gerber Jr., Nathan Herro, Robert Johnson, Tom Klagstad, Steve Malette, Mike McKenzie, Alan Pace, Gary Rogers, Ricky Rogers, Chuck Rusicki and Dan Selling. 'Town Meeting' Quiz Program Plans Falter

Residents are being asked to fill out the survey-questionnaire blank for the "TV Town Meeting of the Air" program which will be seen on educational television Channel 3, Marquette, on Dec. 9.

The questionnaire asks that persons identify the problems of the area. What's wrong with our community? How can we make it a better place in which to live and work and retire?

"The response has been poor," co-chairman of the local steering committee Dick Bonifas said. Of those blanks returned, persons have indicated concern in the areas of industry (some favoring attracting industry; some opposed), community pride, transportation, tourism. Some felt there was an over-emphasis on tourism. Educational reform and tax reform were also mentioned.

The survey blanks, which were mailed to most area residents, are also available at local retail stores, grocery stores, gas stations, banks, etc. Blanks should be returned to Community School Director Bonifas at the Central School by Nov. 17.

The U. S. has 508 million acres of commercial timber. Softwoods on 239 million acres and hardwoods on 269 million acres. Commercial forest is an area capable of producing timber and available for that purpose.

'Operation Jobs' To Start Friday

"Operation Jobs" will get underway Friday with students in the Distributive Education Club and the Office Education Association contesting prospective members of the Manistique Area Chamber of Commerce.

The students are working on the membership drive as a community service project. The drive opens Nov. 1 and runs throughout November.

Thirteen teams of three students each will be canvassing the approximately 250 business establishments in the county, carrying pledge cards for membership in the Chamber. Prizes will be awarded the winning team.

Chamber president Nat Dellis spoke to the students, who are enrolled in the new Co-operative Vocational Education program in distribution and office training at the Manistique High School, last week on the aims and purposes of the Chamber.

Briefly Told

The hot lunch menu for Friday at Doyle, Central, Hiawatha and Fairview schools will include beef, corn noodle casserole, carrot sticks, fruit and beverage.

State police ticketed Roger Wasurick, Pukeaki, Wis., for following too closely on Tuesday.

Children who plan to attend the Story Hour on Saturday, Nov. 1 at the Manistique School and Public Library are asked to wear a mask. The Story Hour will begin at 10:30 a.m. and all children three years and older are invited to attend.

Look Of The Forties Returns To Fashion

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Add a new word to fashion's vocabulary: "funky." It means clothes so old they're new. The latest qualifier: the "Funky Forties." California designers dictated the new nondescript definition Tuesday at previews of sportswear for the 70s.

Little Prints
There were "funky little attic prints," paphums, "latty old lady dresses," puffed sleeves, funny flat-heeled shoes and even a "Kate Smith sweetheart neckline."

Models looking like snapshots from mother's photo album came on in chunky heels by Shloos—the heaviest shoes ever. Jersey minidresses by Cherm of Hollywood were cinched in at the waist and flared out to old-fashioned swing skirts. Tiny fluted and puffed sleeves abounded on three-piece crepe suits with paphums.

Gored Skirts
Even once-conservative firms such as Miss Pat and Koret of California tossed in a few "attic prints"—tiny flowers on fluid jersey. Dubbing its sportswear "collectors' items," Miss Pat is-

Van Gogh Exhibition Opens In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A lot of Angelenos are convinced that the best show in town is hanging on the walls of the Los Angeles County Museum of Art.

A collection of 66 paintings and 46 drawings and water colors by Vincent Van Gogh has opened in a six-week exhibition made possible by the artist's namesake nephew, a sprightly 78-year-old Dutchman.

The full range of the Van Gogh genius can be seen, including peasant scenes like "The Potato Eaters," the idyllic orchards of Arles, the anguished self-portraits, and the swirling masses of color that reflected the madness before his suicide at 37 in 1890.

From Amsterdam
The Van Gogh exhibit, which will later appear in St. Louis, Philadelphia and Columbus, Ohio, comes from the Vincent Van Gogh Foundation of Amsterdam, of which Dr. Vincent W. Van Gogh is president. He accompanied the art here and gazed with satisfaction at the admiring crowds that filled the county museum special exhibit rooms.

A white-haired, erect man who said proudly, "I'll be 80 next January," Van Gogh is a zealous guardian of his uncle's reputation. The fact that the artist sold only one painting in his lifetime does not seem unusual to him.

Five Years
"After all, take the average artist today," he reasoned. "He goes to art school, paints for several years, and if he is accomplished, perhaps he might have a one-man show by the time he is thirty."

"What of Van Gogh? He painted for only five years of his life; he was an artist for 10 years, but only in the last five did he paint seriously. You can't expect to be known as an artist after only five years of painting."

The artist's lack of sales proved a boon to his family. Except for a few that he gave away or left behind when he moved lodgings, all of the Van Gogh works were left to his brother Theo, who died months later.

Many Exhibitions
Dr. Van Gogh, who was 6 months old when his uncle died, has sold some of the paintings over the years—"otherwise his work couldn't have been known." To spread further the fame of the artist, Dr. Van Gogh has exhibitions throughout the world—"dry since 1945, with an attendance of one million, eight hundred thousand."

Because the works were not sold during Van Gogh's lifetime, the foundation's collection represents the most complete single grouping of any major artist's work.

Seaver Receives Cy Young Award In National League

NEW YORK (AP) — Pitching for the New York Mets has always been an honor, but never made of an honor until Tom Seaver came along.

Two years ago, Seaver won National League Rookie of the Year honor in the National League and now he has been selected the winner of the Cy Young Award as the league's best pitcher in 1968.

But Seaver represents more than just an honor or an award for the Mets; he represents the miraculous reversal for he was born out of a Mets' past that includes such master losers as Roger Craig, Craig Anderson, Jack Fisher, Jay Hook, Al Jackson, Golem Ciccio and Tracy Stallard.

Only eight seasons ago when the Mets were created they lost a record 130 games and missed by a hair of becoming the first team with three 20-game losers.

In that first year, pitching for baseball's worst team ever, Craig lost 24 games, Jackson 20 and Hook 18. Anderson, who didn't pitch much during the final month, took 17 defeats.

Craig went on to lose 22 the next year, 18 of them in a row, and Stallard lost 20 and Ciccio 19 in 1964.

Fisher was the big loser the next three years with 24, 14 and 18.

And the hitting and fielding were just as bad, making it easy for a pitcher to lose 20.

But 1967 marked the beginning of a new era. It heralded the appearance of young right-handed Seaver, the first Mets' pitcher with a future.

No one laughed when Tom Seaver took the mound. He was a 16-game winner that first year, but more important, he was a winner. He started the Mets thinking of victory rather than settling for defeat.

In 1968 Seaver again won 16 games and made the All-Star team for the second time. That year he was joined by Jerry Koosman, with 19 victories, and the Mets finished with their best record, 73-89.

Then came 1969 and Gary Gentry joined the staff and the Mets came up with some hitting and fielding. Seaver expanded into a 25-7 pitcher whose 10 straight victories at the end of the season sent the Mets to the East Division title.

He won the first game of a playoff sweep over Atlanta for the National League pennant and added another victory in a stunning five-game World Series rout of Baltimore, completing the impossible dream.

Craig, Anderson, Jackson, Stallard, they all must have been looking on in awe, thinking they had been born too soon.

Seaver, a handsome 24-year-old graduate of the University of Southern California, finished the regular season with 35 starts and 18 complete games. His earned run average was 2.21 and he had five shutouts and 308 strikeouts.

Seaver got 28 of the 24 Cy Young votes cast by the panel of the Baseball Writers Association of America and announced Wednesday, Atlanta's Phil Niekro, 23-13, got the other.

All this for the man the Mets signed for $50,000 after picking his name out of a hat. Seaver's original contract with Atlanta was voided because it violated the college rule which forbids signing a player while his college season is in progress.

And there might be more for Seaver, who is vacationing with his wife Nancy and not expected back in New York until mid-November. He also is a strong candidate to repeat Bob Gibson's showing last year when he won both the Cy Young Award and was named the league's Most Valuable Player.

Northern Hoping To Break String

MARQUETTE—Northern Michigan's Wildcats, reeling from three straight losses, will try to pick up the pieces of what has developed into a disastrous season in their final home appearance of the year Saturday against Northwood.

Kick-off time is 1:30 EST at NMU's Memorial Field in a game designated to commemorate the 100th anniversary of college football.

"We aren't the same team that started the season," said head coach Rollie Dotch following last week's 25-10 loss to St. Norbert. "We got off to a 3-1 start, now we'll have to scramble for a 500 year."

Part, but not all, of Northern's problems can be traced to injuries, especially the losses of leading ground gainer Lonnie Holton and tight end Guy Kangas.

Without Holton in the lineup the Wildcats have scored only one touchdown in the last seven quarters. And his status continues in doubt for the Northwood game as the senior halfback nurses an ankle injury suffered against Quantico.

"Not only is our ground game hampered without Holton, but the loss of he and Kangas has cut into our passing attack since they were our two top receivers with 29 receptions between them," Dotch points out. "In addition, they were our two best blockers on offense."

Kangas is lost for the season with a shoulder injury, also incurred in the Quantico game. Also on the injured list this week are two defensive stalwarts, linebackers Tim Kearney and end Doug Peterson, both hobbled by ankle injuries.

At midweek Dotch said he plans to move tackle Tom Watson to tight end, install freshman Paul Schmidt at Watson's tackle post, move tackle Ken Schuetzpietz from defense to offense and put either Dave Drago or Dave Brackett at defensive end.

"We will also start Tommie Davis at left halfback since it appears that Holton will not be ready," Dotch adds.

Northwoods comes into Marquette with a 4-3 record, an amazing turnaround from last year's winless season.

"Coach Jack Finn has done a great job with the Northmen," Dotch points out. "Last Saturday they held Hillsdale to nine yards in the first half before losing 30-10."

Fullback Paul English and halfback Larry Lindsey are Northwood's chief offensive threats. Lindsey has been averaging better than seven yards per carry and has scored nine touchdowns while English provides the short yardage power runs.

Northern has two games remaining following the Northwood contest, both away from home. The Cats play at Eastern Illinois on Nov. 8, then close the season in a night contest at Tampa Nov. 15.

Cowboy Runners Grab 1-3 Spots

NEW YORK (AP) — Calvin Hill and Walt Garrison, the Dallas Cowboys' ground punch, are running one-three in the latest individual statistics released by the National Football League.

Hill, the Yale boy who has become a sensation in the pros, is almost half way to the 1,000-yard mark after six games. An 84-yard night against New York Monday gave Hill 496 yards in 168 carries, an average of 4.5 yards.

Garrison moved up to third with 388 yards against the Giants and a season total of 578, just three behind Larry Brown, the Washington rookie from Kansas State.

Gale Sayers, way down in 10th place a week ago, cut loose for 140 yards against Los Angeles and moved up to the No. 6 slot in the league rushing standings.

Craig Morton of Dallas still tops the passers. Morton had completed 62.9 per cent of his passes for 11 touchdowns and an average gain of 10.37 yards. He has been intercepted only twice, both times in the Giant game.

Ray Jefferson of Pittsburgh still leads the receivers but the pack is closing in. Jefferson had 20 and Harold Jackson of Philadelphia and Dan Abramowicz of New Orleans each has 27.

Fred Cox of Minnesota continues to show the way in scoring with 36 points.

Other individual leaders include Mike Bragg of Washington in punting with a 44.6-yard average, Rickie Harris of Washington with a 13.5 average on punt returns, Jim Duncan of Baltimore in kickoff returns with a 34.1-yard average and Mike Howell of Cleveland with five interceptions.

Spurrier Wins Offensive Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Spurrier, an understudy to John Brodie for three years, finally got a chance to show his stuff Sunday and responded with an effort that gave the San Francisco 49ers their first victory of the year.

Spurrier came to the 49ers in 1967 after winning the Heisman Trophy while breaking 15 school records at Florida and throwing 37 touchdown passes. He sat behind Brodie and George Mira for two seasons, confining his efforts to punting.

Mira was shipped away to Philadelphia this year so when Brodie came up with arm trouble, Spurrier got the ball. He had started two games in his rookie season and lost both.

"I don't want to sound as if I'm bragging," he said Sunday after the 24-21 upset over Baltimore, "but I played some better games at Florida." But he did a good job for the 49ers, enough to gain The Associated Press' nomination today as offensive player of the week in the National Football League.

It was no walkover for Spurrier. John Gilliam of the St. Louis Cardinals had a fantastic day at Cleveland, catching touchdown passes of 84, 79 and 15 yards from Charley Johnson in a 24-10 tie.

Danny Anderson, Green Bay's neglected halfback who has complained "play me or trade me," ran for 114 yards in 18 carries in the Packers' 20-10 victory over Atlanta.

Bruce Gossett of Los Angeles provided all the points in a 9-7 win over Chicago with three field goals and Gale Sayers came through with his first big effort of the season, gaining 100 yards in 15 carries for the Bears.

Walt Garrison picked up 102 yards and Calvin Hill 84 Monday night in Dallas' 25-3 victory over New York.

But Spurrier's test in getting the 49ers into the win column deserved special attention. San Francisco had lost all six exhibitions and was 0-4-1, with only a tie with Washington to break an all-time record, going into the Baltimore game. Furthermore, the Colts had beaten the 49ers 13 straight times.

"I knew I had to get a lot of my passes into the Colts' zone as quickly as possible," he said. "I wanted to hit my backs before they got into their zone defense."

Spurrier's passes set up a field goal by Tommy Davis, a short touchdown run by Ken Wilard and a touchdown pass to Dick Wicker. He completed 18 of 30 for 305 yards.

Gilliam, a wide receiver, obtained by St. Louis in an off-season trade with New Orleans, caught four for 128 yards and the three touchdowns. The last score came with only eight seconds to go.

"Gilliam is a real good one," said Coach Blanton Collier of the Browns. "We wanted to draft him but New Orleans beat us to it."

Rubella Clinic For Children Set At Rock

ROCK — Parents permission slips have been sent home with kindergarten, first, second and third grade pupils of the Rock School and these slips have to be signed by a parent and returned in order for the student to receive the Rubella (three day measles) vaccine. The Delta-Menominee District Health Department will be conducting a Rubella clinic at the school. The date will be announced later.

Rubella is a mild disease, but in the last epidemic throughout the United States, 50,000 children were crippled or killed. Many have had their hearing impaired by the disease. This is a new vaccine and should not be confused with the vaccine for hard measles (the 14-day measles), which has been on the market for many years.

The Rubella vaccine will only be available through the health department for this age group at the present time, officials said.

All parents are urged to take advantage of this vaccine, by having the students return the permission slips as soon as possible. If a child is allergic to chicken or duck eggs or feathers or is certain he has already had the three day or German measles, then he should not receive the Rubella vaccine.

The TB tests for all ninth grade students will be administered at the Rock School Friday, Oct. 21.

State Police Give Halloween Advice

Residents of the Escanaba-Gladstone Area were urged today by Sgt. Richard Van Sipe, commander of the Gladstone Post of the Michigan State Police, to do their part in making Halloween night a safe time for children.

"Motorists should be particularly alert for children on Halloween night," Sgt. Van Sipe declared. "Youngsters are likely to let safety rules go by the board as they tour their neighborhood on Halloween."

State Farmers Aided By Loans

LANSING (AP)—Rural Credit Services of the Farmers Home Administration helped 12,000 Michigan citizens during the last fiscal year, reports Alfred LaPorte, state director.

LaPorte noted that such credit is available only to those unable to obtain it elsewhere.

He termed it a vital factor in U.S. Department of Agriculture efforts to strengthen the economy of rural America.

LaPorte said during the past fiscal year the agency: —Loaned more than $8.66 million to some 135 families to enable them to buy or enlarge farms and make major improvements on their property.

—Loaned 598 families, $4.32 million to help them with farm operating costs.

—Helped 827 families with a total of more than $8.61 million in rural housing financing.

—Advanced a total of $2.98 million in loans and $445,000 in grants for six rural water and sewer systems.

—Issued $83,980 in soil and water improvement loans to nine farm families.

—Loaned $514,800 to 80 farm families following disasters such as flood, hail or drought.

—Advanced $35,930 in economic opportunity loans to 147 low income families.

—Advanced $163,130 in grants to 10 rural public agencies for water and sewer system planning.

They may dart into the street at any time and any place," he said, warning drivers that they should expect this.

The post commander noted that parents can do several things to help insure the safety of their children on Halloween night. For example, they can make certain their children are easily seen by drivers in the darkness. This can be done by making sure the youngsters wear something light colored by giving them a flashlight to carry.

"It is also a good idea to see to it that the young trick or treaters are not wearing masks that might block their vision," Van Sipe added.

The commander urged adults or older youngsters to accompany younger children on their Halloween adventure.

"The safety of celebrating youngsters on Halloween is mainly up to the area residents," Van Sipe concluded.

"These boys and girls will most likely be oblivious to the dangers of traffic. I urge you, therefore, to do your part in keeping them safe and sound on Halloween night."

Company's Gas, Electric Rate Rise Challenged

LANSING (AP) — Gas and electric rate increases totaling nearly $38 million a year recently granted Consumers Power Co. by the State Public Service Commission are being challenged in court by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley.

The commission approved a $21.8 million gas rate hike plus a new rate schedule for customers. It also approved a $16.5 million increase in electric rates. Both orders were issued on Sept. 29.

The Ingham County Circuit Court authorized the electric rates to be put into effect into bond pending hearings asked by Kelley.

Kelley Wednesday filed a new suit in the Ingham County Circuit Court asking the court to reverse the commission rate orders.

He asked that the commission be ordered to prescribe "just, reasonable and lawful rates."

Consumers serves some 800,000 gas and more than 1 million electric customers in the state.

Kelley said he was filing the suit on behalf of the general public and the State of Michigan, as customers and ratepayers of the utility.

The attorney general asked for an opportunity to introduce additional evidence, for a temporary injunction to restrain the commission from allowing the new rates to be collected and for a permanent injunction to restrain consumers from collecting the rate hikes.

In his complaint, Kelley termed the commission order "unlawful, unreasonable, erroneous, arbitrary, capricious, and an abuse of discretion, in that it establishes rates in excess of those which are just and reasonable."

Kelley said in his complaint that the commission erred in finding that Consumers should be allowed to earn a 12.2 per cent return on its common equity including retained earnings.

He said the 12.12 per cent return was far in excess of a fair return, and far in excess of the return required to preserve the company's credit, attract additional capital on reasonable terms, and pay adequate dividends to stockholders.

Kelley contends the average cost of equity capital to Consumers does not exceed nine per cent and a nine per cent return would be fully adequate to permit the company to raise capital on reasonable terms, maintain its credit and pay adequate dividends.

Consumers said at the commission hearing it had not received a gas rate increase since 1961 and during the interim reduced rates twice for a total of about $5.7 million a year.

There had been no electric increase since 1959, Consumers said, and these rates were reduced three times in the interim for a $7 million annual total.

A spokesman for the utility further said that all the contentions cited by Kelley were introduced by the attorney general or his representatives during the rate hearing and each of them was specifically dismissed by the commission.

The two main awards for the evening were won by Sulo Ruotsala and Mrs. Donald Outto. The dance concluded the festivities. Music was furnished by "The Midnight Sun," a band from Iron Mountain.

Wayne County Court Temporary

DETROIT (AP)—The Wayne County Circuit Court Wednesday issued a temporary restraining order against a Detroit doctor, forbidding the use of the so-called Hott tumor serum.

"The aim of the study would be to determine if excessive charges for books are being made," he said. "If so, then we would try to formulate steps to make the price fair."

Varman said the state-supported colleges and universities are supposed to be nonprofit organizations, and reported he had heard of cases where books were purchased from students at one-quarter or less of original cost, then resold at up to three-quarters of original cost.

DETROIT (AP)—The Michigan State Police are one of the American companies to have a certificate of appreciation for its contribution to the American space program.

Wayman has taken part in the space program since 1957 and is the prime contractor for Apollo's food and waste management systems.

The suit, filed by Mrs. Gay Kelley, was filed in the Wayne County Circuit Court.

The complaint, filed by Kelley and Charles Hadden, director of the State Department of Licensing and Regulation, alleges the serum is "highly contaminated, dangerous and harmful to human beings."

Kelley said the suit followed an investigation of the use of the serum.

Kelley Wednesday asked the court to enjoin Dr. Norman Charles Hadden of Detroit, the doctor who developed the serum, and to enjoin the use of the serum.

In Detroit, Kelley said the defendant has and is continuing to manufacture and distribute the serum.

The suit, filed by Mrs. Gay Kelley, was filed in the Wayne County Circuit Court.

BILL SANDERS

Sanders' cartoons have CLOUT...

(and are good for laughs)

When Bill Sanders was pitching footballs as quarterback for the West Kentucky State U's varsity in 1953, there were some people who didn't like him a bit. They were the defense platoon of the opposition—he established a NCCA pass completion record that year.

As staff cartoonist for The Milwaukee Journal since early in 1968, Bill is still pitching—and still making completions. He has an abiding intolerance of hypocrisy and abuse of power, and he hits hard.

Sanders' page one Journal cartoons are deadly—and funny.

Readers may agree or disagree with his point of view, but few fail to be stimulated by his witty style and sure aim for phonies.

Coming in The Milwaukee Journal:

counseling service for those facing the draft

these Packer backers are staunch and steadfast

A variety of constructive approaches and alternatives for young men facing a selective service call are offered by attorneys and others who specialize in this field. An article by Ralph Olive tells how these counselors use their experience and knowledge to help. The article appears in INSIGHT magazine for Nov. 2.

A closeup report on Packer fans, observed at Green Bay, provides some insight into who they are and what makes them tick. The article was written by Frank Auberger, and the photos, many in full color, were taken by Richard Bauer. The feature appears in the Nov. 2 issue of INSIGHT magazine, with The Sunday Milwaukee Journal.
